OHIO REPUBLICANS

Re-Nominate Major McKinley for Governor,

Who Makes a Lengthy Speech Upon the Political Questions of the Day.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 8.—A few moments after 10 o'clock General Grosvenor called the republican state convention to order and Rev. Dr. S. H. Holmes implored the Divine blessing on the proceedings. A hearty greeting was accorded Hon. H. M. Dougherty when he was introduced as permanent chairman, and in recognition of the cordiality he limited his speech to three minutes.

After his speech the report of the committee on resolutions was next in order. It was read by Congressman C. W. Hulick, of Clermont. Each plank was loudly applauded.

THE PLATFORM

The platform reaffirms the principles of the last republican national convention, indorses the administration of President Harrison, deals with state affairs, favors biennial sessions of the legislature, compelling railroads to use automatic car couplers, arbitration of labor controversies, the taxation of franchises, the McKinley act and favoring such amendments to it for protection as time and experience may show to be advisable. It favors a free ballot and a fair count, condemns the placing of wool on the free list, demands the rigid enforcement of existing immigration laws by the national administration, favors pensions, favors honest money, composed of gold, silver and paper, maintained at equal value, and under national and not state regulation and denounce the avowed purpose of the democratic party to repeal "the prohibitory 10 per cent. tax on state bank issues." "Its purpose," the platform says, "is to abandon the present currency system established by the republican party, the safest and best ever provided in any nation and to supply in its place a currency issued under the authority of each one of our forty-four states, which can never be either safe or of uniform value."

M'KINLEY NOMINATED.

When the platform had been read and adopted the decks were cleared for nominations. Governor McKinley's name was presented by Col. Bob Nevins, of Dayton, and seconded by Senator J. W. Nichols, of Belmont. There were no other nominations, and the governor was declared the nominee amid a scene of wild enthusiasm. The committee was appointed to conduct him to the hall and a few moments later he made his appearance. He was greeted with cheers prolonged several moments. He commenced his address by accepting the nomination and expressing his gratitude and appreciation.

"Republicanism," he said, "will have a severe test in Ohio this year. This state is the coveted field of the opposition. They will center here but with unity, harmony and courage, our party will triumph over all. We do not wait for the enemy to form their line and challenge us to contest. We challenge them early upon every issue and upon every line of controversy, state or national, which divides us. One day we learn that the enemy want to give us battle upon state affairs; then upon national issues. We invite them before the bar of public judgment for discussion upon both, and shall permit them to run away from neither."

The governor proceeded to review the administration of state affairs by the republican party at extreme length. Then, coming down to national issues, he continued:

"The national administration has done nothing thus far except to create in the minds of business men a deep distrust. The financial situation, which, for the most part, has prevailed since the 4th of March, has not been improved, nor has the financial stringency been relieved by anything the national administration has said or done. It has announced no policy, suggested no relief, and given no sign of its disposition or ability to restore confidence, stop the outflow of gold to foreign countries and the contraction which has taken place at home. The $100,000,000 of gold reserve which Mr. Cleveland, in his first administration, set apart as a sacred fund to redeem the greenbacks and which sum he dedicated to that purpose, and none other, has been the first, singularly enough, to encroach upon it—the first to drop below the hundred million line which he himself had established as the only line of safety.

Continuing this line of thought at some length, Mr. McKinley said: "The democratic victory of 1892 has not been able to bring the better times promised. It has not been able to maintain the good times which were enjoyed everywhere in the country on the day of the victory. Business failures have increased, banks have suspended, money is harder to borrow, and borrowers are compelled to pay higher interest for their loans than for many, many years. Feverish uncertainty prevails in every financial and business circles. Labor and capital are in doubt about the the future. This has been our condition for two months and no change for the better is at this moment apparent.

"If it is true, as the administration boldly proclaims, that our financial distress is occasioned by the silver purchase law which requires the government to buy 4,500,000 ounces of silver every month and issue treasury notes therefor, then why does not the administration convene congress and repeal that law? Mr. Cleveland vainly sought its repeal before his inauguration, but we have heard little from him in that direction since. With the congress democratic in both branches, elected by the same constituency which elected Mr. Cleveland, with undisputed authority in him under the constitution to convene congress, he issues no call and takes no steps to repeal the law which he believes is the cause of our disturbed business condition. Believing he knows the cause of the trouble, he makes no effort to remove it, and in this is his responsibility and from it he cannot escape.

"If he has been withholding the call for an extra session of congress in the belief that still greater financial distresses and still added bankruptcies are necessary to bring his party associates to the adoption of his views, then democratic ascendency will prove a costly lesson to the people and an expensive experiment to the country. What will the democrats do with the tariff? We can only wait and see, but the waiting and the anxiety and uncertainty is paralyzation."

Governor McKinley continued at considerable length speaking upon the tariff, pensions and other questions of the day.

The following nominations were made by acclamation:

Treasurer—W. T. Cope.

Lieutenant Governor—A. L. Harris.

Attorney General—John K. Richards.

Judge of the Supreme Court—Joseph P. Bradbury.

Member Board of Public Works—Frank J. McCulloch.

Dairy Commissioner—B. F. McNeal.

An eagle was adopted as the party emblem, and at 12:30 the convention adjourned sine die.

MUST CLOSE ON SUNDAY.

Such is the Decision of Judges Woods and Jenkins.

Judge Grosscup Takes the Opposite View and Says the Gates Can be Opened on That Day.

CHICAGO, June 8.—In the injunction suit brought by the United States to restrain the local directory from opening the world's fair gates on Sunday, Judge Woods announced this morning that he and his associates failed to agree on certain points and that each would formulate his ideas as an individual opinion. Judge Woods' individual opinion is that the injunction must issue and the gates be closed. Judge Jenkins agrees with Judge Woods on the main point in the world's fair injunction proceedings, and he also decides that the injunction must issue and the fair be closed on Sunday.

Judge Grosscup holds that it may be kept open.

In brief, Judge Woods held that the government was in absolute possession of Jackson Park and had the right to make whatever rule it pleased concerning the management of the fair; that the Sunday closing rule had not been lawfully repealed and that it was the duty of the court to grant the relief prayed for by the district attorney. He believed that an injunction should be issued.

In the course of his address Judge Woods said: "There is a claim that the local corporation tendered the park to the United States, but the defense prefers a formal denial. It is a question to be decided by the act of congress inaugurating the enterprise. The act shows that the legislature and the park commissioners tendered the park to the government and it is clear that in so far as it lay in their power, the legislature and the park commissioners did make that trade. A constitutional amendment was passed enabling Chicago to raise $5,000,000 for the fair. The adoption of that amendment corroborates this position that the government is in possession at Jackson park. Those grounds have been lawfully devoted to the use of the government."

Continuing Judge Woods said: "There is nothing in the act of congress to override the laws of any state. The general proposition is that when the government takes possession of grounds within a state the laws of that state continue to have force only through the United States authorities. The same was true at the centennial. It is true that the government has no right to control parks in Illinois unless they are tendered to and accepted by congress. Congress would have no control over Lincoln park. It has at Jackson park, for that has been tendered. My conclusion on that point is, then, that congress has the right to regulate proceedings on those grounds.

"What has congress done in respect to Sunday closing? My conclusion is congress had the power to make regulations concerning that question. March 3, 1893, the government voted $2,500,000 to the fair on the condition that if the gift was accepted the fair was to be closed on the first day of the week. In other words, if the money was taken the commission—it does not say the directors—was to adopt a rule closing the gates on Sunday, thus recognizing the right of the commission to make the rule. There was an acceptance and the rule adopted, and in my opinion it has never been repealed."

"Tyrolean Queen" tonight.

A DEMAND FOR NEGROES.

If the Right One is Found He Will be Hanged.

A Horrible Crime Will be Followed by Swift Punishment—Mob Law Prevails.

TOPEKA, Kan., June 8.—An unknown negro yesterday entered the house of Alva Allen, a prosperous farmer living three miles northeast of Augusta, in Butler county, and brutally outraged Mrs. Allen, a woman fifty four years of age. Mr. Allen was in Augusta at the time and the crime was not discovered until he returned home. Mrs. Allen was seriously injured and may die. The sheriff organized several posses of men promptly and a thorough search of the surrounding country was instituted. Two negroes were arrested this morning and brought before Mrs. Allen for identification, but neither were recognized by her. Her identification will be the death sentence of her outrager, for the people are determined to promptly execute him as soon as captured.

HOW TRESHAM WAS YANKED.

After Being Chased Over Four States He is Caught at Bluffton.

BLUFFTON, Ind., June 8.—An Indianapolis detective did a slick bit of business here yesterday and as a result frisky Robert D. Tresham, the cornet player of White Cloud's band is a prisoner.

The charge against him is betrayal and Miss Jennie Kent, of Indianapolis, is the injured party. About a year ago both parties were with the Kate Howard specialty company and when he found that trouble was likely to result from their intimacy he promptly stepped out. The authorities have been on his track for the past three months and have tracked him over Illinois, Iowa, Ohio and Indiana. Finally it was learned that he was with White Cloud's show. The Indianapolis authorities were notified by a telegram that Tresham would be in Bluffton yesterday and Officer Charles Sorters was detailed to arrest him here. The detective had no means of identifying him. Sorters found that the troupe was stopping at the City hotel and he sauntered down to that resort just after dinner. He saw a fellow writing a letter. He glanced over his shoulder and noticed that it was addressed to "My Dear Jennie," and he knew he had his man. Robert was promptly yanked and landed in jail.

Detective Sorters left last evening with Tresham for Indianapolis. The fellow will be met by Miss Kent and the matter settled most probably by marriage.

A KIND ACT

Brings Its Unexpected Reward to a Traveling Salesman.

MUNCIE, Ind., June 8.—During the great Dunkard meeting here among those in attendance were Abner Fuller and wife, a feeble old couple, of Amboy, Ohio. On the day when the meeting ended, Mr. Fuller became separated from his wife and friends, taking the wrong train, and he found himself without money or ticket. He was greatly embarrassed by the gruff conductor demanding a ticket. In his extremity he fell under the eyes of Sam H. Nafe, formerly of Frankfort, but at present traveling salesman for a Chicago hardware firm. Nafe helped him to a seat, and, finding that he was on the wrong train, caused him to disembark at Anderson and Nafe went along to see that he was not molested. Returning to Muncie under Nafe's kindly care, the old Dunkard was reunited with his wife and friends, and there he was bidden a kindly good bye by the Chicago man. Last week a letter came to the Coulter hotel, Chicago, where Nafe made his headquarters, telling him that the old Dunkard couple had willed to him a farm. Investigation showed that they were heirless, their children having all died. Shortly after returning to Amboy the old lady died, and within a week her husband followed her to the grave. Both had a kindly remembrance of the courtesies received at Nafe's hands, and they concluded to remember him by willing him a farm. The farm is located in Seneca county, Ohio, and its value is placed at $59,000.

M'CAULEY IN THE SAME BOAT.

Evidence All In Against the Fourth Lafayette Rioter on Trial.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., June 8.—The trial of Phillip McCauley, the fourth of the riot cases, is proceeding rapidly. The evidence adduced by the state has been about the same as that brought out in previous trials. The evidence has showed that McCauley was in his saloon, consulting with Temple, Clark and others; that he was on the Opera house steps during the riot, also in the gallery and in the audience. One witness testified to hearing McCauley say, "Come on boys." This afternoon the state closed its case and the defense began. They admit McCauley's presence at the opera house, as claimed by the state, but deny that he was on the stage. Twelve or fifteen prominent citizens this afternoon testified that McCauley's reputation as a quiet, peaceable citizen had always been good. It is thought the trial will close Friday night.

Fighting the Saloon at Kokomo.

KOKOMO, Ind., June 8.—A big fight is on in the commissioner's court against the saloons of this place by the Anti-Liquor league. Remonstrances have been filed in six out of fourteen applications for licenses to be heard today, and others will follow. The remonstrances are against some of the biggest saloons of the town, one being at the bar of the Clinton hotel, the principal hotel of the place.

PRINCESS DAY

The Summer Sun Shines Brightly and a Large Concourse of People Enter the Gates.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS, June 8.—The summer's sun was but two hours old this morning when people began to arrive at the grounds to do honor to the Spanish Infanta. It was princess' day at the fair and it was notable, in addition to the entertainment offered the royal visitor, for the largest crowd that has yet been inside the world's fair enclosure in one day.

The weather was beautiful, the warm rays of the sun being tempered to a comfortable degree by the breezes that blew off Lake Michigan all day. Nebraskans shared the honors of the day with Eulalia. The 8th of June was set down originally as "Nebraska Day," but when it became known that the princess and suite had arranged to visit the fair, the title of "Princess' Day" was proposed and gracefully agreed to by the men from the big western state. Nebraska dedicated her building, however, as was intended, a little after 11 o'clock this morning, and after the ceremonies the visitors marched up through the beautiful grounds to the administration plaza, on their way to the agricultural building, where they opened their section. As they crossed the court of honor the infanta reviewed the procession from the vast balcony of administration building and smilingly waived her handkerchief, the Nebraskans answering the salute by three rousing cheers for Spain and Eulalia.

There was no free music at the fair until the princess had arrived. At noon the exposition orchestra gave a concert in Festival hall. A tremendous crowd filled the building and applauded liberally. Contrary to expectation there was no music of Spanish composition on Mr. Thomas' program. The open air concerts began at 12:30, the programs being made up largely of Spanish music. The attendance was large and the people were enthusiastic.

CHICAGO FAILURE.

A Private Banker Makes an Assignment.

CHICAGO, June 8.—Conrad Nicholl, a private banker at 49 Lasalle street, suspended business this morning. An assignment for the benefit of all creditors was filed in the county court, transferring the banker's property to Adam J. Jaeger, as assignee. Assets are scheduled at $90,000, and liabilities at $50,000. Refusal of the bank through which Nicholl cleared, to pay checks, caused the suspension. The bank was conducted under the title of Conrad Nicholl & Co., but the banker had no associate in business.

The attorney for the insolvent bank states that the failure was caused by the bank through which Mr. Nicholl cleared, refusing to honor several checks presented yesterday for the reason that he had overdrawn his account. The Nicholl bank was not a large affair and did not do an extensive business. It is thought that Nicholl will be able to meet all demands.

A CUTTING AFFRAY

At Pierceton and the Marshal Made No Arrests.

Special to the SENTINEL.

PIERCETON, Ind., June 8.—Jesse Wine and some circus people got into a fight last night, when Wine drew a razor and commenced slashing the showman, cutting one gash across the jugular vein, fortunately not cutting deep enough to prove fatal; also, a deep gash across one arm and one across the breast. All three are ugly wounds, but will not prove fatal. Afterward the showmen combined and gave Wine a sound thrashing. Our city marshal was present to enjoy the scrap, but failed to interfere or make any arrests.

MAY BE LYNCHED.

The Negro Assailant of a White Woman in Arkansas.

TEXARKANA, Ark., June 8.—Mrs. Lucinda Ward, a white woman, living near here, was criminally assaulted Tuesday night by a negro. Mrs. Ward recognized her assailant as Tom Figures, a well-known desperate character, and he was arrested yesterday. A posse organized and intended to lynch him last night but the sheriff learned of their intention and hurried him to the Bowie county jail, twenty miles away. The people are being greatly excited and it is possible he may yet be lynched.

INSTANTLY KILLED.

A Police Officer Run Down by a Train at Chicago.

CHICAGO, June 8.—Lieut. Stillman Danforth, a city police officer attached to Hegewisch station, while attempting to cross the tracks at the Fiftieth street crossing this morning, stepped in front of a Rock Island south-bound express, while waiting to avoid a switch engine and was run down and instantly killed.

Frightfully Torn.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., June 8.—Henry Quick, eighteen years old, while swimming in Nevel's creek, was terribly torn. He wagered with some other youth that he could clear a wire fence and made the jump with a spring. His feet slipped and he fell astraddle the fence, tearing his abdomen open, his intestines protruding, requiring nineteen stitches. There is hardly any hope for him.

NEBRASKA'S BUILDING

Is Thrown Open to the Public This Morning.

The Exercises Include a Street Parade, Typical of Western Life in Early Days.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS, June 8.—Westerners in general and Nebraskans in particular crowded the Nebraska state building to suffocation this morning in honor of its dedication. The official party, consisting of Governor Crounse and staff, Hon. Jos. Garneau, the world's fair commissioners from Nebraska and members of the legislature and ladies, arrived at the south park station about 10:30. Here they were met by Hon. W. F. Cody and an escort, consisting of the cow boy band, a company of cavalry and some Indians which was intended to represent early Nebraska. The procession then moved to the park and entered the grounds at the Fifty seventh street entrance and arrived at the Nebraska building about 11 o'clock. After a few minutes delay the ceremonies began. Hon. Joseph Garneau, commissioner general of the Nebraska Columbian exhibit, was the first speaker. He gave a history of the world's fair work in Nebraska, described the displays made by the state at the fair and the vast advantages which would result and closed by tendering the building to the state. Governor Crounse was greeted with a rousing cheer as he rose to reply. He commended the work of the commissioners which had brought about such splendid results in the different departments of the fair and had erected this splendid home for Nebraskans. He accepted the building on behalf of the people of Nebraska and formally declared it dedicated to their comfort.

After the governor's speech, there were calls of "Morton, Morton." The secretary of agriculture was present and tried to escape a speech, but the crowd kept up their calls until he made a short address. Brief speeches were made by Hon. W. J. Bryan, ex-Governor Furnas and others. When the exercises were concluded the party marched over to the agricultural building, being reviewed en route by Princess Eulalia, at the administration building and formally declared their section open without ceremony.

Reineke's full orchestra will accompany the vocalists and altogether it will be a musical treat and should be well patronized.

HENRY REUERS SUICIDES

He Drowns Himself in the St. Joe River.

The Body Recovered a Few Minutes Later—Coroner Harrod Views the Body.

Word reached this city shortly after 1 o'clock today that Henry Reuers, a fresco painter, who resided on Webster street, had committed suicide by drowning in the St. Joe river, below the Rudisill dam. The spot where the rash act was committed was on the east side of the stream. Reuers was seen to spring into the water by the several boys who were fishing near by. The alarm was at once given and a search resulted in finding the body a few feet from where the man had jumped in. Coroner Harrod was at once sent for. He viewed the body as it lay upon the bank of the river.

Last summer the deceased was sunstruck while at work upon the Lutheran church in Huntington and since then has not been quite right mentally. He leaves a wife and three small children.

The mother is almost distracted. Reuers was a member of the Saengerbund and Goethe lodge, K. of P. He was an excellent citizen and no motive can be attributed to the rash act.

Reuers was about thirty-five years of age.

TOOK POISON!

Eugene Sovine, a Farmer, Has a Narrow Escape.

He Accidentally Swallows Three Ounces of Cyanide of Potassium—Dr. A. J. Boswell Saves Him.

Eugene Sovine, a farmer who lives four miles in the country, on the Maysville road, met with a narrow escape from death this morning. He swallowed three ounces of cyanide of potassium taking it for Rochelle salts. Dr. A. J. Boswell, of this city, was sent for in great haste and worked hard to save the unfortunate man's life. After administering a powerful antidote Sovine recovered somewhat from the effects of the poison, but complained of terrible pains in the stomach. He had a narrow escape and had it not been for the timely arrival of Dr. Boswell would have undoubtedly died. Mr. Sovine is known all over the county and particularly in Fort Wayne.

KNIGHTS OF THE GRIP.

Today's Session is Devoted to Committee Work.

PEORIA, Ills., June 8.—The morning session of the Commercial Travellers was taken up principally with committee work. The session was a short one. At 11 o'clock the delegates and their wives participated in a carriage ride about the city and suburbs. This evening Governor Altgeld and Vice President Stevenson are advertised to be here. A promenade concert and ball is to be given tonight, at which the governor is to address the members of the association.

Knights of Pythias.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 8.—The second day's session of the grand lodge, Knights of Pythias, was characterized by a prolonged discussion of the order of the supreme lodge that the ritual shall hereafter be printed only in English. The lodge refused to instruct its representative to the supreme lodge.

Jacks Gets an Office.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Wm. H. Jacks, of Indiana, was today appointed consul of the United States at London, Ontario.

LOCAL NEWS.

The county commissioners returned this morning from the country, where they had been inspecting bridge work and improvements in progress at the county infirmary.

The funeral of the Rev. Kucher will take place tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. from the house on Saville avenue, and at 2 o'clock from Emanuel's Lutheran church, the Rev. Gross officiating. Interment at Concordia cemetery.

The Indianapolis Sentinel says: "Secretary Johnson and his daughter left yesterday for Chicago. They will attend the annual session of the congress of charities and corrections, and afterward spend some time visiting the world's fair. Secretary Johnson goes from there to his new charge at Fort Wayne."

Rev. J. E. Leeper desires THE SENTINEL to announce that every member of the Boys' Brigade of the Second Presbyterian church is wanted at the church tomorrow evening at 7:30 to prepare for the service on Sabbath evening in which they are to take an important part. It is hoped that parents will remind their children of this important appointment.

These last days of the graduating class of the Central Grammar school are almost over. Next Thursday they will bid good bye to the school room and begin life anew. The examinations are finished and although many guessed who would win the honors of the class, it was not until this morning that it was officially announced that Miss Candia Wilding would be the valedictorian and Miss Gertrude Clark the salutatorian. These young ladies are bright and persevering and fully deserve the honors they have won.

THE GFELL CASE

Against the Pennsylvania Company, for $5,000 Damages,

Being Bitterly Fought in the Circuit Court—The U. S. District Court—Other Legal News.

The case of Catherine Gfell against the Pennsylvania Railroad company is proving to be one of the most hotly contested in our courts for some time past.

The trial of it was begun in the circuit court, before Judge O'Rourke and a jury, a week ago last Monday and yet the testimony for the plaintiff was not finished until late yesterday afternoon, when the first witness for the defense was called.

It will occupy the balance of the time this week and will no doubt extend into the first two days of next week, so that when finished it will have occupied at least fourteen days in its trial.

The action is one brought by Mrs. Gfell to recover $5,000 from the company for injuries resulting from being thrown out of her buggy on the 15th day of last December, which, she alleges in her petition and is attempting to prove, was owing to the negligence and carelessness of the railroad company.

The testimony shows that on the above date, which was Sunday, Mrs. Gfell and her two sons, Frank, aged twenty, and a boy aged eight, were going from their home, four miles north of Monroeville, in a buggy to church, driving one horse. Just as they were about to cross the railroad track on Main street, in Monroeville, the horse became frightened at a passenger train, which was flying through the town at the rate of fifty miles an hour, and they were thrown out of the buggy and injured. The son Frank had his arm broken and Mrs. Gfell suffered injuries about the back and arm, which, she says, resulted in neuritis, or inflammation of the nerves, and ever since then she has been incapacitated from work and suffers greatly, her doctors testifying that her injuries will lead to paralysis, and for this she asks that the railroad company be made to pay her $5,000 damages.

The company claims that Mrs. Gfell was not injured as badly as she represents herself to be. They say her disease is what is known in medical science as malinger, a term used in damage suits brought against corporations for shamming or pretending to be ill, and that her injuries could not have put her in the condition in which she, herself, and her physicians allege her to be. It is in regard to these injuries that so much of the time of the court is being consumed, the testimony of the doctors being learned and interesting. Her physicians, Doctors Connolly and Kauffman, of Monroeville, have testified, as have also Drs. H. V. and Budd Van Sweringen and Dr. Van Buskirk, of this city. The doctors for the defense are Dr. McCaskey, Dr. Geo. C. Stemen and Dr. Wenger and their testimony will no doubt be as exhaustive as was that given for the prosecution.

The plaintiff also endeavors to prove that the company was negligent at the time the accident occurred, and that its employes did not ring the bell or sound the whistle of the engine as it approached the street crossing. Upon this point a large number of witnesses have been and will be examined, those for the plaintiff testifying that these danger signals were not given and those for the defense saying they were. The company claim that they exercised due caution and that the accident was the result of the plaintiff's own carelessness.

Another feature that enters into the case, although it does not properly belong there, is the fight that is now being waged against the Pennsylvania company at Monroeville because they refuse to stop their fast line passenger train No. 8 at that place, coming west, which for a long time had stopped at that station. This had been a great accommodation to the Monroeville people, as it enabled them to come to Fort Wayne and return the same day. Then the Monroeville council petitioned the county commissioners to compel the company to place a watchman at the Main street crossing, and also passed an ordinance prohibiting the company from running their trains through the town faster than ten miles an hour. These side issues are attempted to be brought into the case for the purpose of working a prejudice against the railroad company.

The case is one which attracts a great deal of attention at Monroeville, many persons from that place being in the city as witnesses, and its result will be watched with interest. J. B. Harper and W. A. Connelly are the attorneys for Mrs. Gfell and Judge Zollars and Barton Colerick for the company.

The case of Frank Gfell against the Pennsylvania company is for $2,299 damages and will come up for trial during the present term.

THE UNITED STATES COURT.

The United States district court, which will meet in this city, at the government building, next Tuesday, will be presided over by Judge Baker. Frank Burke is the newly appointed district attorney, and John Morris, jr., of this city, the district clerk. A number of important cases will come up for trial, among which are the following: The United States vs. William F. Bryson, of Huntington county, under indictment for pension frauds; United States vs. James Kelly, of Fort Wayne, same charge. Civil suits to come up are Mary J. Frederick, administratrix of the estate of David M. Frederick, vs. the Chicago and Erie railway, for $10,000 damages. Otto Gresham is attorney for the defense. John Hirding, administrator for Chester Hirding, vs. Chicago and Eastern Illinois railway, for $10,000 damages; Jacob Worthiem vs. the Lake Erie and Western railway, for $15,000, personal injuries; Fort Wayne Electric company vs. Ansonia Electric Supply company, $8,500, failure to fulfill contract; Mary Burham and husband vs. John Coteaux; Mass Foss & Co., of Cincinnati, vs. Flint & Walling Manufacturing company, of Kendallville, for infringements of patents.

BRIEF MENTION.

Judge Comstock, of Richmond, will be in the city next Wednesday to act as judge in the circuit court in the trial of the case of Louisa Swartz against Henry W. Swarkenck to test the validity of certain real estate transfers.

Margaret Moncey yesterday qualified as guardian of Edward Monary, one of the children she secured at Dayton, Ohio.

The will of William S. Robison is filed. His estate is bequeathed to his wife, Harriett Robison. J. A. Robison is executor.

Isaac Bixler and Henry Ensner were each fined $1 and costs last night by Justice Hays for assault and battery. The fight occurred a few nights ago in a Runion avenue labor shop.

In the damage suit against Paul E. Wolf, James Bunn was given a judgment of $30.45. The suit was for $200 and was before Justice Hays.

The case of the state vs. Bessie Howard, alias Mary Smith, for alleged prostitution, was begun at 2 o'clock today in Justice McDaniels' court.

The case of Benjamin Saunders vs. William Parent, for possession of a house, came up in Justice Hays' court yesterday and was taken on a change of venue to Justice McDaniels' court, on Spy Run avenue.

The sheriff of Howard county does not expect to serve the warrants issued against ex-Governor Chase, John W. Paris and Cashier Walden, of the defunct Greentown bank, but will await their appearance. Chase is filling lecture engagements in Ohio and is expected at his home here Saturday. Paris is in Indianapolis and says he will go to Kokomo and give bond as soon as the grand jury's copies is served upon him.

A SMOOTH STRANGER.

He Sold Tea and Coffee to Bloomingdale People.

A $15 Picture Also Thrown In to Bind the Bargain—Twenty-eight Dollars for Fifty Cents.

This morning Mrs. Driver, of Franklin avenue, Bloomingdale, accompanied by a lady friend, called upon Lieutenant Lapp at police headquarters. Mrs. Driver was after a smooth stranger, whom, it is alleged, has "worked" half the people of that suburb for sums ranging from fifty cents up to five and ten dollars. Mrs. Driver stated that three weeks ago the stranger called at her home and represented himself to be an agent of the Chicago Tea company, a firm alleging to do business on Creighton avenue, Chicago. The fellow was soliciting the sale of coffee and was also agreeing to enlarge photographs. His method of doing business and the inducement offered was a glittering bait to many unsuspecting housewives. For the sum of 50 cents or $1 paid down he would agree to enlarge any photograph and furnish a $15 picture and frame, provided the customer would sign an agreement to purchase a pound of coffee every week for twenty five consecutive weeks, paying therefor the sum of twenty-five cents per pound. The picture was merely offered as a side issue and for the purpose of inducing the public to patronize the Chicago tea and coffee firm.

The smooth stranger from the Windy city went up and down the streets of Bloomingdale and lined his pockets with bright silver coins of all denominations. All this was three weeks ago and although the stranger promised to start the twenty-five weeks' series of coffee installments, not a brown bean has shown up in Bloomingdale, hence the kick.

Mrs. Driver stated to a SENTINEL representative this morning that she would never have signed the agreement but thought the tea and coffee house was on Creighton avenue, this city. She is very anxious to get back the photograph, which was of a very dear relative.

The butchers propose forming a union. All shops will become members. Arrangements are being made now and will soon be completed.

INDIANA has 749 newspaper publications. Fort Wayne with her seven daily papers has her share of them.

GOVERNOR MATTHEWS' nerve is all right. He will attend to the Chicago sports who want to come into this state to violate the law.

THE different states have about all dedicated their respective buildings at the world's fair. Kentucky was one of the last, but uncorked it in great shape.

A SYNDICATE headed by Governor Matthews, Sterling R. Holt, George N. Catterson, and other capitalists have undertaken to boom New Cumberland. Options on nearly 2000 acres of land have been secured.

THE Ohio republicans did what everybody supposed they would do—nominated McKinley for governor. The Buckeye state is strongly republican but the democrats will make it interesting this year for the party of high tariff and high taxes.

THE report comes from Decatur, Ill., that while public sentiment deplores the recent lynching, it does not demand the punishment of the lynchers. This is a strange state of affairs. Lynching is a violation of the law and should be punished. It is time to commence somewhere to make a few examples and Indiana needs them as much as any other state.

WE are all creatures of habit, and it is as easy to learn the habit of saving money as it is to acquire the habit of spending it. True, there are some men that are born with a lack of balance in this direction. These are the natural spendthrifts. But in comparison with the majority of men these natural spendthrifts are not many. It is well for society at large that nature has made this distinction.

THE principal cause of so many of the bank failures during the last few weeks was going out of the legitimate channels of business and indulging in speculative banking. These speculative concerns have not had a good standing in clearing house circles, and their mismanagement has brought to them disaster. The conservative banking institutions of the country are insured greater protection by the failure of these concerns, and with nearly four thousand solid banking firms throughout the country there is no cause for panic or alarm.

THE supreme court of Indiana [illegible] the case of the county treasurer and commissioners against the Parke bank, of Rockville. The state tax commission had ordered that the money on deposit in the bank be placed on the tax duplicate. The bank resisted in the county court and the case went to the higher court on appeal. The supreme court held that the state tax commission did not have original jurisdiction to revise individual tax lists (other than railroad property) and the equalization of assessments of real estate. The state board had no authority to direct the money to be added to the tax list, and the county auditor had no power to make the addition without notifying the appellee.

THE following is a list of places in Indiana where civil service examinations have been held, together with the number of eligibles for each place. The names of the successful applicants will be forwarded to each town as fast as the examiners at Washington complete the review of the applicant's papers. Anderson, 12, Columbus, 8, Connersville, 7, Crawfordsville 9, Elkhart, 13, Fort Wayne, 30; Goshen, 9, Huntington, 9, Jeffersonville, 6, Kokomo, 9, Lafayette, 22, Laporte, 9, Logansport, 15; Madison, 8, Marion, 11, Michigan City, 7, Muncie, 12, New Albany, 5, Peru 7, Richmond, 17, Shelbyville, 6, South Bend, 23, Valparaiso, 7; Vincennes 9; Evansville, 29; Terre Haute, 29.

SOME curious experiments were recently made on wild beasts in Barnum & Bailey's winter quarters, Connecticut, to ascertain whether the larger beasts of prey really have the strong antipathy to rats and mice that we often hear of. When a mouse was thrown into a cage where there were two lions the animals leaped away, roaring apparently with fright, and making efforts to get away from the tiny creature. Their fear of rats was still greater, and one rat sprang at a lioness and bit her on the nose, causing her to scream. A tiger "roared in a frenzy of rage" when first introduced to a mouse. Then he lowered his muzzle to smell at it, but would have no more to do with it, and made violent efforts to break from his cage. Elephants screamed and trumpeted when mice were introduced, shrinking from them as far as their chains allowed. One elephant, however, more knowing than the rest, when a couple of mice were placed before him quietly put his foot on them.

SUNDAY is the clergyman's working day and Monday is his day of rest. In eastern cities it is common for the ministers of the town and its neighborhood to assemble at convenient points, usually the publishing house or mission centers of their respective denominations, and to spend some hours in the discussion of topics not always religious. They dine in little groups at a good restaurant, and if their conscience allow they go to a concert or theater in the evening. This pleasant custom had its origin in Boston, and probably no performance has been given at the Boston museum on Monday night in forty years when clergymen did not form a part of the audience.

AN eastern exchange tells of a summer resort landlord who will get rid of the flies in his house in a novel way. He will offer prizes to the boarders who shall catch the most flies. There will be a first prize, consisting, say, of some such rare object as a lithograph of Bishop Brooks; a second prize, a beautifully illustrated souvenir circular advertising the hotel, and so on. The effect of these prizes will be to set all the boarders to catching flies and the dining-room will be regularly cleared of them by the same persons who have been accustomed to complain of the insects.

THERE is said to be great suffering and destitution among the inhabitants in the Altar mining district in Mexico, owing to the severe drought that has prevailed there. AUNT SALLY'S SUICIDE.

"Drat that hog!"

"What's that?"

"I said drat that hog!"

"Why, Joshua Beebe, dare how you take the name of the Lord in vain?"

"I hain't tooken it!"

"Yes you have! How you dare swear like a pirate and then go to church on a Sunday and pertend goodness is more'n I can make out. I should think you'd be afraid of bein' struck dead!"

"I guess I don't run any more risk than you do!"

"Joshua Beebe!"

"If I didn't like the way things was run I'd git out!"

"And I will git out this very day! Joshua Beebe, I've been a slave to you for nigh on' of thirty years! I've slaved and slaved and slaved, and the Lord knows I've done my hull duty. I've had to put up with this and put up with that, but it's the last hair that breaks the camel's back. After thirty years of slavin' and sufferin' and wearin' old duds you want to turn me out doors! Very well, I'll go!"

"Nobody has turned you out doors."

"Yes they have! I kin take a hint as quick as the next one. You want me to go and I will go. If the naybors ask you what has become of me you kin say that you turned me out of doors and I went off and died. The cold beef is in the dish-pan on the sink, and you'll find the 'taters down cellar. Be kind to the cat, Joshua, and you'll find the clock key inside the clock. I owe Mrs. Savage a cup of brown sugar, and I borrowed a drawin' of tea of Mrs. Tyler the other day. I want you to pay 'em back, and you must also remember to let the spotted calf suck your finger afore you offer him the bucket of milk. Good bye, Joshua Beebe!"

* * * *

I had lived with my uncle and aunt for three years. I had heard something like the above once a week during all that time. They were good people and they were fond of each other, but it was their way. Sometimes it was Uncle Joshua who was going to quit, and on a dozen different occasions he packed up and got as far as the gate. Aunt Sally was the most sensitive of the two, however, and it was a cold week when she did not make ready to leave her bed and board. Once she got as far as her sister's, two miles away, but she generally contented herself with turning about after reaching the schoolhouse. She'd pretend she had forgotten something, and upon her return to the house would manage so that Uncle Josh would ask her to remain.

We were eating breakfast one morning when the above conversation took place. A hog had rooted his way under the garden fence, and Uncle Josh was provoked at the spectacle. During the last part of the conversation Aunt Sally was walking about the dining-room and making ready for her departure. When she went up stairs Uncle Josh reached over for another slice of fried pork and chuckled to himself, while I had my mind on a trap I had set for an owl. It was about time for Aunt Sally to "kick up," and if she hadn't we should have been a bit worried.

We left the table and the house without seeing her again, and during the forenoon were busy planting corn in a field half a mile away. I don't think Uncle Josh gave the matter five minutes' thought until 12 o'clock came. He could tell the hour by the sun, and when we did not get the sound of the horn he said:

"Aunt Sally is a leetle late to-day. Mebbe a tin peddler has cum along to bother her. Guess we'll go up all the same, as I want to sharpen this hoe."

On our way to the house I noticed that he walked faster than usual and had a slightly anxious look on his face. The kitchen door was shut, all the curtains drawn and there was no smoke from the chimney. We entered the kitchen to find that no preparation had been made for dinner, and five minutes later we knew that Aunt Sally had skipped. The first thing Uncle Josh did was to run out to the highway and look up and down. No Aunt Sally in sight. While he was thus engaged I looked into the corn-crib and smoke-house and behind the leach, but there was no sign of Aunt Sally. As we met in front of the house Uncle Josh looked pale and his chin trembled.

"Sammy, your Aunt Sally has finally gone," he moaned.

"Yes."

"She's probably committed suicide."

I agreed with him and he became thoroughly rattled. While he went to search the house and the barn to see if he could find her dead body I was sent to arouse the neighbors. By 1 o'clock we had a dozen people in the house. Uncle Josh wiped his weeping eyes on the roller towel in the kitchen and admitted the misunderstanding at the breakfast table. Her body couldn't be found in or about the house, but as no one had seen her pass on the highway up or down there was reason to believe that she had drowned herself in the tamarack swamp on the east end of the farm. It was resolved to make a search. By the time we started we had a crowd of ten men and as many boys, school having been dismissed for the day. There were forty acres in that swamp, and on every acre was a pool deep enough for a woman to drown herself in. Every pool was probed with poles, and before we got through it was sundown. It was a sorrowful procession which returned to the house. Uncle Josh had tried to brave it out, but it was no use. When he got inside he sat down on the [illegible] and cried like a child. One of the neighbor women cooked supper for us, but he could not eat.

All the men returned after supper to resume the search, and they had decided to investigate the sugar bush over on the ridge when I happened to think of the well on what we called the "calf-lot." This was a quarter of a mile from the house. Uncle Josh had hired a man to dig a well there, but after going down twenty-five feet he had struck quicksand and been obliged to give it up. The hole had been curbed but was threatening to cave in. It struck me that Aunt Sally had flung herself into this well in her anxiety to shuffle off this mortal coil, and as soon as I stated my suspicions everybody agreed with me. We hurried away in a body and reached the well to find that it had caved in.

"It's as plain as the nose on my face, Uncle Josh," said David Paper, who had the largest nose ever seen in the county. "Your woman has clum her, and dove head fust into the well. In goin' down her feet hev hit the curbin' and caved in the hull blamed. Her dead corpse is now a-lyin' at the bottom and it's goin' to be an all-fired job to git at it."

"But he nacherally wants to git it up, though to leave her thar would save lots of trouble," added a county constable in the crowd.

"Oh! Lord! Oh! My poor, dear Sally!" sobbed Uncle Josh. "If I'd a-knowed you meant to do this I'd a-gone down on my knees to Ged. I hev druv you to your death and the Lord won't never forgive me fur it!"

A working party was formed and though not a man left the place until daybreak, but very little progress was made. About sunrise we received a reinforcement of fifty men from the village, and enough women and children put in an appearance to make up a crowd of 200 people. Uncle Josh was too badly broken up to even offer a suggestion, but there were men competent to direct and just at sundown, after the hardest day's work any of them ever had put in, the bottom of the well was reached. The dead body of Aunt Sally was not there. Most of the crowd scattered for home at the news, all more or less indignant perhaps, but there were a dozen old friends and neighbors who remained to comfort Uncle Josh and fill their stomachs at the same time. About 9 o'clock, after the supper table had been cleared away and all had gathered in the parlor, suggestions were offered as to what should be done on the morrow. Aunt Sally might have gone to the shanty in the sugar bush to hang herself, or she might have drowned herself in the creek to the south. Some one feelingly observed that even then her corpse might be dangling from a limb in the hickory grove, and Uncle Josh groaned and wept afresh as he moaned.

"Oh, Sally! Why did ye do it! Why didn't ye give me a chance to fall on my knees and beg your pardon! If it was only to do over agin, I never would give ye a cross word! You might sass as much as you liked, but I wouldn't mind it!"

"Joshua Beebe, I shall hold you to that afore all these people."

It was the voice of Aunt Sally, and she herself stood in the door between the parlor and dining-room.

"And you hain't dead!" shouted Uncle Josh, as he sprang up in amazement.

"No, I hain't!"

"Where you bin all the time?"

"Up in the garret! I was goin' to git out, jest as you told me to, but I prayed over it, and sumthin' told me to give you one more chance. Do you think you kin give up bein' a pirate and live out the rest of your days in a decent way? If not, I'll put on my bonnet and go."

Just a week later, as we were eating dinner, Uncle Josh bit on something hard, and cried out:

"Gosh durn it! but I've broke a tooth!"

"Joshua Beebe!"

"What's the matter now?"

"Takin' the name of your creator agin."

"I hain't!"

"Yes, you are! I won't stay in this house if it's to be turned into a den of pirates. You may not care for your soul, but I do for mine."

"If I was so dreadful 'fraid of pirates I'd git out."

"And I will git out! I've suffered and slaved and niggered 'till I can't call my own livin' anywhere now, but I kin go out and die! Farewell, Joshua Beebe, mebbe you'll be happier with a young wife!"

But dinner was ready at the usual time and I noticed that Uncle Josh had a saucer of peach preserves coddled up on the far side of his plate, which was a sign that Aunt Sally was a little conscience-stricken and wished to "make up." They still live and live together.—N. Y. Mercury.

Halcyon Days.

What are the halcyon days? They are the seven days before and the seven days after the shortest day. The halcyon, or kingfisher, is supposed to be breeding at this time, for which reason on the sea, for this fortnight, very considerately preserves a perfect calm.

Eat Candy

If you will, but be sure to use SOZODONT right away, in order to carry off its injurious effects upon the teeth. All candy eaters should carry SOZODONT with them, if they wish to keep their teeth sound.

Mr. and Mrs S. K. Blair and family left today for Lima, Ohio.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

JUST FULL of improvements—Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. To begin with, they're the smallest, and the easiest to take. They're tiny, sugar-coated anti-bilious granules, scarcely larger than mustard seeds. Every child is ready for them. Then, after they're taken, instead of disturbing and shocking the system, they act in a mild, easy, and natural way. There's no reaction afterward. Their help lasts. Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, Sick or Bilious Headaches, and all derangements of the liver, stomach, and bowels are promptly relieved and permanently cured.

FROM THE ANTIPODES

AUSTRALIA'S CONTRIBUTION TO THE WORLD'S FAIR.

A People Who Look at America as a Nation Slightly Behind Their Own Country—Their Splendid Showing at Chicago.

[Chicago Correspondence.]

THE American people esteem themselves as the most progressive of the human family. "Westward the star of empire takes its way" is an old saying and a true one, but some people are of the opinion that America is no longer the magnet that attracts the star. These people come, as might be supposed, from Australia. They are in Chicago in goodly numbers. They look at us as elders and old, just one notch ahead of Europe, two ahead of Asia, etc. Australia, they say, is the most progressive country under the sun. This, being a World's Fair, we must listen with becoming patience to this talk of our antipodean guests. Anyway, Australia is a great country and is making a great showing at Chicago. The country is divided into five colonies, all settled by English, Irish, Scotch and Welshmen. The province of New South Wales alone appropriated the sum of $250,000 for the World's Fair. This is the only province officially represented.

The New South Welshmen—this term is correct—will make a brave display. Most of their goods have arrived, and the whole affair is in the charge of bright young men with English side whiskers and English accent and American manners. Their exhibit ought to interest those who want to know about the uttermost parts of the world.

One is apt to think of Australia as on the bottom side of the earth. And, in fact, many things there are upside down according to American and European notions. The trees shed their bark, the foliage turns down instead of up, as with us, and some of the birds and animals seem to have been made when nature fell in a peculiarly freakish humor.

"Melancholy," says Marcus Clarke, an Australian writer, "is the dominant note of Australian scenery." Well, the Australians are proud of the weirdness and melancholy that mark the typical Australian landscape, and they have many square yards of pictures here illustrating these characteristics. This is one of the features of the New South Wales exhibit. It contains hundreds of these large pictures depicting Australian scenes from busy street corners in busy Sidney to the lonely ravines of the Blue Mountains or a solitary sheep herder in the "back country."

EMU.

There is in this exhibit a very large collection of the strange animals and birds of New South Wales. Of course everybody is familiar with the kangaroo, or at least with its picture. Consequently the stuffed specimens exhibited will be no novelty, though some of them will be very large. But the most unique creatures of all will be the platypus, a strange kind of an animal about the size of a raccoon, which has a kind of horn pouch on its nose, and lays eggs and hatches its young like a bird. Zoologists have agreed that the platypus is the oldest of all animals, and inquisitive Americans may study him here—in a stuffed state, of course.

Besides these there are stuffed specimens of emu, cassowary, wallaby, lyre bird, laughing jackass and all the other queer animals and birds that were never heard of until Australia was discovered.

New South Wales will also show some sections of big trees. It has been believed heretofore that the largest trees in the world were found in California and the Australian colony of Victoria. But New South Wales asserts that she can surpass either. Those in charge of the exhibit here say that the highest tree so far known in the world—450 feet—has been discovered in New South Wales, and others are there over 400 feet high. Sections of the gigantic fig trees are shown. These grow in the northern part of the colony, and a section of one that was 147 feet in circumference is shown here. Of course they do not bear figs like those that are received from Turkey and other parts of the Orient.

The mineral exhibit will be very extensive. Chief among these will be specimens from the Broken Hill silver mine in the southwestern corner of New South Wales. This is the mine which is just now giving students of finance more trouble than any other, for it is putting out silver so fast that it and the American miner together overshadow the gold product, and thus disturb the desired ratio of the two metals. The Broken Hill mine is producing now more silver than any other in the world, and rivals in riches the celebrated Comstock lode when that was at its best. In fact, the New South Wales people here say that it will soon lead all the silver mines of the world [illegible] Potosi and Comstock included.

But the Australians [illegible] their products, at least to the [illegible] of races types, manners and human development. They are English, as has been said, in accent and dress, but are more American in manner. They are taller and slenderer than the English people, more vivacious, showing, perhaps, the effects of a warmer climate. Froude says that the Englishman can be reproduced with exactness only in the South Island of New Zealand, where he has the same soil and moist climate that he finds at home. The appearance of the Australian certainly indicates a divergence from the English type on that continent.

These Australians affect not to be impressed by anything they see in America. One of them informed the World correspondent that he did not care for Chicago after Sidney. They have as much confidence in the future of Australia as Chicagoans have in their own town, and do not think that the United States is ahead of them at all. They have a national ode called "Australasia," which runs like this:

"Proud Queen of Isle! Thou sittest vast, alone,
A host of vessels bending around thy throne,
Like some fair swan that skims the silver tide,
Her silken cygnets strewed on every side,
So floatest thou, thy Polynesian brood
Dispersed around thee on thy Ocean flood,
While every surge that doth thy bosom lave
Salutes thee 'Empress of the Southern Wave.'"

And so on, for many hundreds of lines. William Charles Wentworth is the author. There may be some doubt about the poetic merit, but there is none about the resplendent patriotism of this composition.

But aside from these questions and for itself alone the exhibit from New South Wales will be well worth seeing. The other Australian colonies will be represented by private exhibits, and it is very enterprising for so young a country to send goods such a vast distance. The Australians, who are in a certain sense Uncle Sam's younger brothers, have a right to be proud.

How Did It Get There.

"The largest catfish ever captured on the Mississippi was caught about three years ago, two miles from Cairo, by a colored fisherman," said John G. Harvey of Murphysboro, Ill., says the St. Louis Republic writer. "He was a monster, sure enough, and more resembled a whale than a catfish. The colored people had been talking for a long time about seeing a big fish in the waters. They had shot at him repeatedly, and had set all sorts of trout lines to catch him without success.

"Finally there came a rise in the river, and when the waters receded from the swamp back of the river the fish was grounded and captured. He weighed 312 pounds, and when cut open there was found in his stomach two fish-hooks and a line, a ten-penny nail, a gold ring, and the most curious thing of all—a registered letter addressed to the Hon. Walter Merriweather, of Richmond, Va., which had been lost two weeks, and which had given the postal authorities unbounded trouble. The question was, and is, how did that letter ever find its way from the postal car to the fish's mouth?"

Now Try This.

It will cost you nothing and will surely do you good, if you have a Cough, Cold or any trouble with Throat, Chest, or Lungs. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is guaranteed to give relief, or money will be paid back. Sufferers from La Grippe found it just the thing and under its use had a speedy and perfect recovery. Try a sample bottle at our expense and learn for yourself just how good a thing it is. Trial bottles free at Dreier & Bro.'s Drug Store. Large size 50c and $1.00.

Specimen Cases,

S. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis., was troubled with Neuralgia and Rheumatism, his Stomach was disordered, his Liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters, and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Speaker, Catawba, O., had five large Fever sores on his leg, doctors said he was incurable. One bottle of Electric Bitters and one box Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold by Dreier & Bro., Drug store.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Dreier & Bro.

Steam-Baked Bricks.

In parts of Central Asia bricks are baked in cylindrical ovens about three days and then burned in an atmosphere of steam, which is produced by closing the heated ovens with covers of wet felt. The bricks are turned by the steam from red to dark grey, acquire great hardness and become sonorous. They are said to resist weathering better than the fire-burnt bricks.

Nervous Dyspepsia.

Senator James F. Pierce of New York, writes:

"For the past two years I have suffered very much from an aggravated form of nervous dyspepsia. I have resorted to various remedial agents, deriving but little benefit. A few months since a friend of mine suggested the trial of Allcock's Porous Plasters. Following the suggestion, I have been using the same with the happiest effects. To those similarly afflicted I would suggest the manner of their use. I place one over my stomach, one over the hepatic region and one on my back. The effect is excellent. From the day I commenced their use have been slowly, but surely, improving, and am quite confident that by continuing I shall shall again be restored to my accustomed health."

RAILWAYS AND SHOPS.

The Wayne Knitting Mills Buys More Machinery.

Personal Points and News Paragraphs as Taken From the Note Book of Our Railway Reporter.

Charles F. Strawbridge and Frank Schmier, of the Bass works, and a SENTINEL reporter, called at the Wayne knitting works yesterday afternoon and were courteously shown through the establishment by Manager Theodore Thieme. These mills were recently moved into their new and commodious quarters out near the Muncie tracks, in Nebraska, and are not yet complete, though sixty knitting machines and 125 persons are busily engaged in making stockings. Workmen are now engaged in setting up five large knitting machines, recently imported from Germany. When this work is completed the company will increase its shop force in proportion. Ten of the machines will knit seven pairs of stockings at a time. The others are smaller, with a capacity of two to four pairs. From the knitting machines the stockings go to the dyeing room; thence to the second story, where they are pressed, assorted and placed in neat paper boxes, ready for the retailer's shelves. Yesterday, in this department, some men and a half dozen girls were busily engaged in preparing goods for shipment to California to fill an order for several hundred dozen from a wholesale dry goods establishment. The Fort Wayne Knitting mills is the only establishment of the kind in the west, and the quality of its products is first class. Mr. Thieme stated that their best customers lived in the large eastern cities, where the Wayne Knitting mills' stockings, are displayed in fine stores side by side with the finest products of Europe and they do not suffer by the comparison. The business of the firm is not confined to the east, however. Last week a large shipment was made to Arizona an other shipments went south and north.

BIG DEALS IN MACHINERY.

The Fort Wayne Electric Light company is putting in a large electric light plant for the city of Radford, Va. Yesterday Mr. McDonald, manager of the electric company, left an order with the Bass Foundry and Machine company for two engines for the Radford plant, one a Bass Corliss, with a capacity of 150 horses, and the other a Bass high-speed engine, capacity fifty horses. These engines are to be delivered at the earliest possible moment. The electric company has already shipped the dynamos to Radford and workmen are now engaged in setting them up and preparing the foundations for the boilers and engines. Yesterday the Bass company secured a contract from the Wabash Electric Light and Power company to build them an Improved Corliss engine, with a capacity of 175 horses, and the necessary boilers, pumps, etc. Four large boilers left the Bass works yesterday for Des Moines, Iowa, where the firm is fitting out a large and complete steam plant.

The largest single order ever received by a Fort Wayne firm was the order left with the Fort Wayne Electric Light company last Tuesday by a Philadelphia firm. It calls for electrical machinery and appliances to the amount of $150,000.

The shipments from the electric light works today were a forty Wood arc light machine and an incandescent outfit, 650 light capacity, to Nashville, Ill.; and an eighty Wood arc machine and a 1,300 incandescent machine to Wellsville, Ohio.

MINOR MENTION.

This is pay day at the Standard Wheel works.

H. O. Russel, Nickel Plate yard conductor, has returned to his duties after an absence of a week.

John McMullen, the constructor, is adding a wood turning lathe to his shop on Monroe street.

James White, road foreman of the Wabash, with headquarters at Detroit, was in the city this morning.

David Roach, formerly a brakeman on the Wabash road, has taken a position in the Bass boiler shops.

Nickel Plate Conductor Miller is taking a short vacation. Conductor Summers resumed his run yesterday.

Charles McKune, day clerk in Yard master Grable's office went to Chicago yesterday to spend a week at the fair.

Boilermaker James Murphy will leave this evening for Chicago and the world's fair. He expects to be absent a week.

William Meyers and George Crosier, of the Pittsburg boiler shop, are spending the day with young lady friends at New Haven.

Val. Hartman, fireman at engine house No. 2, is today visiting relatives in New Haven. His wife and children are with him.

The Huntington Democrat says: "The Pennsylvania, the best amateur base ball club in the state, will play here June 20."

Westbound Nickel Plate train No. 5 was delayed over an hour yesterday by failure of the West Shore to make connections at Buffalo.

Boilermaker George Sinex has returned from Upper Sandusky where he repaired some machinery for the Pennsylvania company.

There were two sections of westbound Pittsburg train No. 3 this morning. No. 25 and No. 8 are now run in three sections every day.

Mrs. A. G. Estry, wife of the Pittsburg passenger conductor, and her mother, Mrs. Kingensmith, left yesterday for Pennsylvania. They will visit friends at Pittsburg, Butler, Parker and Collinsburg, spending several days in each place. The latter city is the old home of the ladies.

It is rumored that Harvey Stahl, labor boss in the Pittsburg machine shop, and a fair lady of the south side will be married in a few weeks.

Fred Meyers, the Wallace street blacksmith, and Herman Rombke of the Olds Wagon works, are spending the day in fishing up the St. Joe.

George L. Potter, superintendent of motive power of the Pittsburg will leave today for the east to attend the Master Car Builders' association.

Daniel Boyle, of the electric light works, has gone to Kendallville to take charge of the lighting station during the illness of the regular attendant.

John Crawford mashed the end of the third finger of his left hand with a hammer yesterday. Dr. Stemen attended Crawford, who is employed in the Pittsburg boiler shop.

William Wilson, of Pennsylvania is in the city looking for a business opening. Eight or ten years ago Mr. Wilson lived here and was employed in the Pittsburg paint shop.

James Kent, a member of the Electric Light company's construction crew, came in off the road this morning. For some time he was engaged in setting machinery at Warsaw, N. Y.

The game of ball between the shopmen and college students will not take place next Saturday afternoon. The ground is being improved and the work will not be finished in time.

Assistant Ticket Agent Ora Rhea has arrived home and again answers questions concerning the correctness of the office clock and the arrival and departure of trains with his characteristic good nature.

A special Wagner car, bearing President Caldwell, was attached to Nickel Plate train No. 3 yesterday. At this city Mr. Caldwell was joined by Chief Engineer Pardee. Both gentlemen went to Chicago.

Chauncey Thomas was not sick, as reported. Instead, he was at home entertaining his new son, whose arrival took place yesterday. Mr. Thomas reported at Rhinesmith & Simonson's for duty this morning.

A number of the shopmates of Charles Waygood, of the electric light works, called at his pleasant home on Eckart street last evening, and assisted in celebrating Mr. Waygood's fortieth birthday. All had a good time.

Engineers William Doty and W. Swarts reported for duty at the Pittsburg this morning after a few weeks' vacation. Engineer O. R. Ellenwood has also resumed his position at the throttle after a week's visit with his parents at Williamsport.

The Wabash company has secured the contract for doing the switching for three years on the Lafayette belt road, and will place a good engine there for the special service. Heretofore the Lake Erie and Western handled the business on this road.

It turns out that it is the Nickel Plate—the Chicago end of the line—which is paying the commissions which are securing so much business for the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, which runs in connection with the Nickel Plate between New York and Chicago.

The Bluffton News says: "A. J. You, an expert witness in the big damage suit being heard, has been on the witness stand all day testifying as to what he knows about air brakes. He is a very intelligent witness and handles the matter with much knowledge and experience."

Henry Zanner, who was setting up a steam plant for the Parigon Paper company at Eaton, Ind., has returned to the city. Charles Seibt, who was performing the same duties at Gas City for the Strawboard company, has also returned home. Both men resumed work in the Bass machine shop this morning.

A point has been reached where vestibuled trains are considered an important element of safety. Within the last thirty days two accidents have occurred on Indiana lines where the loss of life and damage to property would have been much greater but for the fact that the trains were vestibuled, and therefore stood more rigidly against being wrecked.

Lieutenant Governor Daniels, of Kansas, has started a fight on the railroads running from Kansas to Chicago because of the excessive rates charged passengers. He advocates the organization of an army of thirty thousand Kansans, who will boycott the railroads and keep away from the fair. Ex-Lieutenant Governor Fell, republican, indorses the scheme and an effort will be made to keep the people from Chicago.

Manager C. L. Dreeler, of the Pennsylvania base ball club, today mailed a challenge to the club of Columbia City for a game on the 18th inst., the same to take place in the Lakeside park. Mr. Dreeler is also in communication with the manager of the Grand Rapids club and a game may result. Supt. G. L. Potter's clerks this morning challenged Master Mechanic W. W. Atterbury's clerks for a game of ball. Last year the motive power clerks were defeated by the shop clerks by a score of 2 to 23.

The Nickel Plate seems to be getting a fair share of the passenger business. This morning there were two sections of its fast line, No. 5, the first being crowded with passengers bound for the world's fair. The second section was made up of emigrant cars and had over 400 passengers. Travel is nearly all westward, however, and a good portion of the passenger cars are returned to the east empty. The second section of the Nickel Plate No. 6, east bound, last night was made up of empty passenger and baggage cars.

It is almost certain that the Vanderbilts are behind the Chicago and Northwestern road, which now reaches along the North Platte, through central Wyoming to Casper, and will soon reach Ogden. This promises to become the great trans continental line for freight on account of its low grades. The Union Pacific, although traversing that portion of Wyoming least adapted to agriculture, has done much to develop its coal mines and with the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy pushing through northern Wyoming to the Yellowstone Park, Wyoming's future seems full of promise.

STATE NEWS.

The corner stone of a new Catholic church, to cost $40,000, will be laid at Anderson, July 9.

Ingalls has secured the location of a large glass tableware factory, to be removed from Washington, Pa.

Mrs. O. L. Prentice, wife of a Presbyterian minister, of Rolling Prairie, impressed with the fear that she was not a Christian, has gone insane.

Peter Keeley, of Muncie, filled his pipe with powder instead of tobacco, and there was an explosion which carried away his whiskers and badly injured his face.

"Hog Jaw" Doherty, of Crawfordsville, who tried to kiss a Crawfordsville girl and was placed under $250 surety, has left for the west, leaving his aunt to make good the bond.

William Dolph, of Valparaiso, while drinking from a brook, swallowed a lizard. Although several days have elapsed, he asserts that the reptile is still alive in his stomach.

Silas Fisher, a carpenter, of Elkhart, fell off a scaffold, breaking his neck and dying instantly. He was a son of the Rev. Johan Fisher, a German Evangelical minister, and forty-five years old.

The Rev. Frederick Lindeman, assistant pastor of St. Paul's (Lutheran) church, of Ft. Wayne, has tendered his resignation to accept a professorship in the Lutheran seminary at Addison, Illinois.

Five candidates sprung up for school superintendent of Shelby county, and on the fifth ballot Andreville Shaw, of Hendricks township, was appointed. He is a son of one of the county commissioners.

The sheriff of Montgomery county went squirrel hunting, taking the jail keys with him. In consequence the prisoners could not be arraigned in court, and all proceedings were stopped for one day.

Arthur Huffman, of Hamilton county, was arrested at Lafayette, and returned to Noblesville to answer charges of forgery, horse stealing and obtaining money under false pretenses. His brother is among the complainants.

Mrs. Paul and daughter, formerly of Indianapolis, while visiting the family of A. H. Langdon, of Frankfort, left $2,500 in diamonds in a trunk while out driving, and upon returning they found the jewels gone. There is no clew to the thief.

While a party of picnickers of Gas City, headed by Dr. J. C. Walker and wife, were enjoying themselves at Rock Dam, two miles south on the Missinewa river, where the water swiftly swirls over huge rocks, a huge black snake suddenly appeared and was quickly killed. Almost instantly there was a rush of hissing, writhing, crawling snakes of every species, and the party fled in dismay. The snakes were estimated at not less than one hundred in number and among them were two said to be twenty feet in length.

A snake-hunting party is being organized at Gas City.

SHE SAW THE EMPEROR.

His Victory Over France Had Cost Her Two Sons.

At the Women's club in Washington the following touching story was recently told: "I was in Berlin in 1871 when the Emperor William returned from Paris, the war over and Germany victorious. I sat in a barouche opposite the entrance of the palace. Around was all Berlin—all Germany, as it seemed to me. You could have walked on the heads of people, but you could not have moved in such a crowd. The emperor came and stood silently before them, and they were silent at first; then the shout that went up was almost awful in its intensity, and the emperor, with a military salute and a few words of thanks, went in. But that did not satisfy them; they cried out again and pressed up closer. A peasant woman who had been standing near my carriage said: 'Oh, let me come in—let me get nearer! I must see him! I have lost two sons in this war!'

"I opened the door and she climbed in and stood up. I passed my arm around her to steady her and then we turned to the balcony of the first floor. In a moment the emperor appeared and stood, the center of all eyes and hearts. The peasant woman folded her hands and said: 'Pray for him—pray for him and all those in his position! They have so much'—there she paused, but I knew she meant blood; she was thinking of her boys—'so much on their hands!' The emperor again thanked the people for their welcome and asked them to disperse then, and they did. Almost before I could recover myself to look around, they were all gone, and the great place in front of the palace had only a few other carriages, like my own, waiting to drive off."

FROM BOSTON.

He Was Trying to Find Out What Had Become of Johnson.

He had never been West before, according to the Detroit Free Press. When he struck Anaconda he hailed the first native he saw.

"Hello, my friend, do you know anyone in this town by the name of Johnson?"

"One-eyed Johnson?"

"William Johnson."

"That's him—ole Bill, the boys called him. Yaas, I knowed him pretty well. Friend o' his'n?"

"I know him slightly. Where is he?"

"Ain't here now. Moved."

"Where did he move?"

"He crossed the divide."

"How's that?"

"I say he's gone up the flume."

"I don't understand."

"Where'd you leave yer thinkin' mill? I'm tellin' you that old Bill Johnson went on a toot last week, run counter o' Pizen Pete an' Pete got the drop, consequently old Bill's toes is up—savy?"

"Really, I don't."

"Great blankety blank, young feller! Listen to me; old Bill Johnson, him as you wants to find, has passed in his checks, which, I mean to say, has kicked the bucket, otherwise passed out of the game, or, as some say, just naturally slumped, an' if you can't get that through your sconce then heaven help ye, 'cause I can't. You're the second feller that's struck this burg from Boston. T'other feller wandered 'round for a few days tryin to find out what he wanted to know, then the boys got tired and put him out of his misery—so you be careful. So-long, stranger."

The fifty-second annual commencement of St. Mary's Institute, near Terre Haute, will take place on the 21st inst.

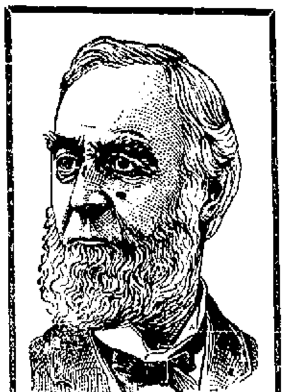
TIME TO GET WELL.

Don't Let Sickness Follow You Through The Summer.



If one could be patient he could avoid many troubles.

But it is worse than folly to be patient with an attack of neuralgia or rheumatism, or any complaint that arises from disorders of the nervous system. Such patience is not a virtue; it is ignorance of the great danger that lies in delay when one is first attacked with a nervous disease.

No trouble-flatter the patient with such hopes of recovery as do diseases of this nature, and diseases of this nature comprise two-thirds that flesh is heir to. Attend to your nervous system!

Have you had the grip? Do its effects still linger? Then go to the nearest drug store and ask for a bottle of the remedy that makes people well.

Mr. F. J. Lee of Howell, Mich., whose portrait is given above, was left in low health and weak from the effects of the grip. Paine's celery compound benefited him at once, as it has benefited and cured thousands who were sick.

For goodness sake don't let sickness follow you through the summer. Take Paine's celery compound.

Paine's celery compound makes people well. In early summer it is the best of tonics for the weak and weary.

GREAT BOOK OFFER.

"The Sentinel" Has a Rare Treat for Its Readers.

Books of Standard Authors Almost Given Away—A Grand Opportunity for All.

In this issue will be found the advertisement of a splendid book offer which THE SENTINEL is enabled to make to its readers.

For three coupons, such as will be printed with the advertisement daily, and 10 cents, a 25 cent book will be sent to any reader of THE SENTINEL.

The book offered this week is "Dream Life," by Ik. Marvel.

The books offered up to date are "The Reveries of a Bachelor," by Ike Marvel; "Lays of Ancient Rome," by Lord Macaulay; "Tillyloss Scandal," by J. M. Barrie; "The House of the Seven Gables," by Nathaniel Hawthorne; "Crawford," by Mrs. Gaskill, "The Coming Race," by Lord Lytton.

You can secure any one of the above if you desire. Others equally interesting will be offered in the weeks to follow.

Base Ball.

The games played yesterday resulted as follows:

At Boston—Boston, 3; Cincinnati, 9.

At New York—New York, 4; Pittsburg, 7.

At Brooklyn—Brooklyn, 14; St. Louis, 1.

At Philadelphia—Philadelphia, 9, Louisville, 7. Ten innings.

At Washington—Washington, 4; Cleveland, 3.

At Baltimore—Baltimore, 4, Chicago, 9.

To Cleanse the System

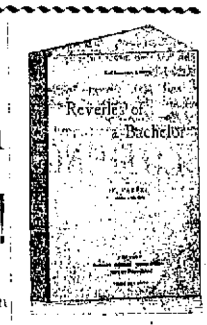
Effectually yet gently, when costive or bilious or when the blood is impure or sluggish, to permanently cure habitual constipation, to awaken the kidneys and liver to a healthy activity, without irritating or weakening them, to dispel headaches, colds or fevers, use Syrup of Figs.

OUR NEW DEPARTURE.

Remarkable Distribution —OF— STANDARD ∴ BOOKS!

At Nominal Prices,

And that can only be made possible by our co-operation for the benefit of the "Sentinel" Readers.

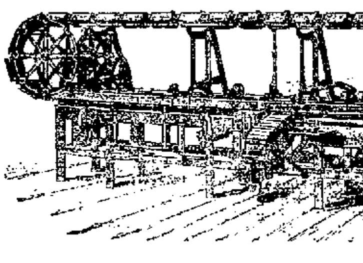


BOOKS LIKE THE ABOVE.

These Books Cannot be Obtained at Less Than the Wholesale Price in Any Other Way Than as Described Below.

WE take pleasure in announcing to our readers that we have made a contract whereby we can furnish them with standard books at absolutely less than wholesale prices. The books which we offer each week are by world famous writers and are printed from absolutely new type especially made for these works. The books are Bound by an Entirely New Process which does away with the oldstyle of thread or wire binding. Each leaf is bound into the book separately and amalgamated with the whole, allowing the book to Lie Perfectly Flat when open, giving ease and comfort to the reader.

The following is an illustration of the new process perfect binding machine which does the work and the only machines in existence are owned and controlled by the publishers of these books.



This machine not only binds books without thread or wire but puts a cover on each book. It takes loose parts of the book and delivers the complete work bound at a rate of 1200 an hour.

Each week we will announce a new book in the following space. If you do not care for the work mentioned, save your coupons as we will be sure to announce books which you will not fail to order.

MOTHER IS UMPIRE

In the Home Base Ball Game and Her Word Is Law.

The Social News of the Day Tells of Reunions, Parties, Weddings and Other Events of Note.

The mother who has never witnessed a game of base ball between two crack teams will never realize what a world of good such an exhibition of unquestioning submission would do her refractory offspring. The umpire is absolute. His word is law and there is no wheedling, coaxing or threatening that can turn him once his decision is made.

No matter if a player has succeeded in sliding to third and thinks the victory worth the sacrifice of scraped joints, if the cry "Out" comes from the umpire there is nothing left for him to do but to return to his seat on the players' bench and hope for a home run when next he comes to the bat.

Once in a while human nature asserts itself and voices are raised in dissent, but the punishment which follows swift and sure on the heels of continued expostulation makes these occasions few and far between. Very few perhaps of the thousands who witness these games look at them from any standpoint other than pure enjoyment of the sport, but to one who studies human nature in its various phases they become exhibitions of self control and absolute submission to the word of one who is supposed to know better than the players what decision to make.

If mothers could only learn from this example and when they say "no" let the little folks understand that they mean it, having weighed matters well before rendering a verdict and then never swerving therefrom, there would be many happier parents and fewer spoiled children.

SOCIETY GOSSIP.

The suburban home of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Randall was beautifully decked with flowers and brilliantly lighted last evening, when a dancing party was given in honor of Miss Cawthon, of De Funiak, Fla. Ferns and syringa, artistically intermingled lent their fragrance and beauty in the scheme of decoration. Assisting Mr. and Mrs. Randall in receiving were Mrs. Per Dahl, of Christiania, Norway, and Miss Cawthon. The dancing began at 9 o'clock, but was pleasantly interrupted when Mrs. Dahl, Miss Cawthon and Mr. Eller Shinler delighted the guests with several vocal selections. Mrs. Dahl is a musician of talent, whose voice is exquisite in tone and perfectly trained, and to hear her once is to wish to hear her again. Before the guests departed a dainty collation was served. Those present were:

A happy company assembled Tuesday at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. L. Welsheimer, of Lake township. The event was the union in marriage of their daughter, Miss Nettie E., to Mr. Wm. G. Hurd, of Petoskey, Michigan, by the Rev. Kent, of Churubusco. After the services at noon a sumptuous repast was relished by everyone. The couple started on Wednesday for Grand Rapids, where the remainder of the week will be spent in visiting friends. From thence they intend to go to Petoskey, where they will occupy the new home that is waiting for them. Mr. and Mrs. Hurd are both accomplished and deserving young people and their many friends join in extending their congratulations.

On Monday evening, June 5, a number of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hoffman gathered at their residence, 515 East Washington street, and tendered them a pleasant surprise, it being the tenth anniversary of their marriage. The ladies had taken their baskets well filled with good things, and about 12 o'clock the guests partook of an elaborate supper, after which dancing was in order. The guests from out of town were: Mr. and Mrs. John Foss, Misses Maggie and Aggie Landin, Miss Boger, Misses Emma and Anna Slink, Messrs. Jacob and Henry Landin, Conrad Schuckle and Edward Slink.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Jones very pleasantly entertained friends Tuesday evening in honor of Mrs. E. W. Clark, of Chelopa, Kansas. Those present were: Rev. and Mrs. J. S. Ainslie, Messrs. and Mesdames W. E. Mossman, E. L. Beaver, Frank Foote, H. Woolsey, J. A. Koplinger, Mesdames E. W. Clark, J. H. Melsker, A. Foote, N. Umoeyer.

Mrs. Lampton and Mrs. Wells, who have been the guests of their aunt, Mrs. J. I. White, will leave tomorrow for Chicago, where they will visit the world's fair a few weeks before returning to their homes in Denver.

Mr. and Mrs. William Rabe, of 22 Tabor street, pleasantly entertained a few neighbors and friends who called unexpectedly last evening to congratulate them, the occasion being their fifth wedding anniversary. Many very handsome presents were received by the host and hostess. Mr. Rabe is city agent for Louis Fox & Co.

A very pretty wedding was that which was celebrated last evening at the Second Presbyterian church, when Miss Emily E. Merrilat, the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merrilat, of Boone street, became the wife of Mr. Fred G. Lepper, the popular grocer. The ceremony was performed at 6 o'clock by the Rev. Leeper in the presence of a number of friends and relatives. After the service at the church the bridal party was tendered a reception at the home of the bride's parents and an elaborate wedding supper was served. Mr. and Mrs. Lepper will soon be at home in a pretty South Wayne cottage which has been recently built by the groom.

AN Omaha judge has introduced a new feature in divorce legislation. A man's wife sued him for divorce, and then, becoming reconciled to her husband, abandoned prosecution of the case. Her attorney presented a bill of $500, which she refused to pay. He then sued the husband for the bill, and recovered, the Judge holding that divorces are a necessary of life. It is hardly possible that this Judge's decision will have any great weight as a precedent. It is difficult to see how a divorce, which the wife herself declared that she did not want, could have been considered a necessary of life. If, however, husbands are hereafter to be liable for their wives' divorce bills a new responsibility of serious importance has been added to matrimony.

THE Khan of Khelat has lost favor with the English Government and been forced to hunt a new job, a hardship for the venerable sinner, as he has been khanning most of his life. He has had committed 3,000 murders, and objection to the unpleasant methods employed of late has been his undoing. When it comes to burning wives at the stake the tender-hearted British nation calls a halt.

CAVAULT ARRESTED.

He Is Locked Up in the Station House Charged With Obtaining Goods Under False Pretenses.

Eddie Cavault is again in the toils. This noon he was arrested by Lieutenant Henry Lapp on Columbia street, and was locked up in the station on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. Eddie, it will be remembered, was arrested on a similar charge several weeks ago and has just been released from a thirty day jail sentence. He seems to have developed a mania for getting various articles from storekeepers and failing to pay for them.

A day or so ago George Strodel, the Harrison street delicacy dealer, was called upon by a young man who stated that he wished to purchase a bottle of wine for a wedding festival. The young man said he had no funds just then but that as Mr. Strodel's son was one of the guests at the wedding, he would give him the money. Later in the day the young man called upon Mr. Strodel and got four more bottles of the same brand of wine. This was the last seen of the fellow.

Mr. Strodel notified the police and from the description it was suspicioned that the young man was Eddie Cavault.

Yesterday Gottfried Schroeder, a tailor, who works for G. Schubert, of 65 East Main street, called at the station and told how he had been bulldozed out of a pair of $3.50 pants. A few days ago Eddie Cavault called at the tailor shop and ordered a suit of cheap clothes. He called later and was given the pantaloons but did not pay for them. Yesterday he called for the coat and vest but was told that he must pay for the whole suit. This he promised to do. Cavault told Schroeder, who is quite old and feeble, that he worked for the Olds wagon works and if he (Schroeder) would go with him to the office the money would be forthcoming. This Schroeder consented to do, and went to the Olds works with Eddie. The young man took him from one part of the factory to another, and finally, when he got a good opportunity, ran like a deer. The old man could not follow him and at once notified the police.

When Eddie was searched at the station a pawn ticket was found upon his person which called for a mandolin which had been left at 45 East Main street. Where the lad secured the instrument is not now known. Upon his person was also found a very obscene letter and some poetry. When locked up the lad cried bitterly. As this is his second offence he will probably not get off so easily. While in jail the first time Eddie showed every sign of repentance and promised to lead a better life. His parents are highly respectable people and have the sympathy of the community.
